SINGAPORE'S FIRST JOINT COMMEMORATIVE PRE-PAID ENVELOPE

Date of Issue: 18 October 2010

Singapore, 15 October 2010 - Singapore Post and China Post have jointly created a commemorative prepaid envelope to celebrate 20 years of Singapore-China diplomatic relations.

The joint commemorative prepaid envelope, besides exemplifying one of the areas of cooperation between Singapore and People's Republic of China, is part of the several major celebration events to mark the 20 years of diplomatic ties between People's Republic of China and Singapore.

Featured on the joint commemorative prepaid envelope are stamp impressions of the national flags of China and Singapore, the imprints of their respective national flowers - the peony and orchid, and the iconic landmarks - the Bridge of Suzhou and Merlion.

Mr Woo Keng Leong, Executive Vice President (Mail), SingPost said, "This is the first time that Singapore Post, with the support of the Infocomms Development Authority of Singapore, issued a prepaid envelope to commemorate such an occasion. It is a refreshing change from the usual joint stamp issue and it also underscores our many years of strong partnership with China Post. For example, in 1996, Singapore Post and China Post jointly released a commemorative stamp issue, 'City Views', and in 2004, a commemorative stamp issue, celebrating the 10th anniversary of the founding of Suzhou Industrial Park."

Limited in quantity, this unique joint commemorative prepaid envelope costs S$3.00, making it a treasured collectible for philatelic enthusiasts. Also available on sale is a special folder containing both the envelopes from China and Singapore which costs S$6.

A special first day cancellation will be made available for collectors to commemorate this occasion.

These two products will be on sale from 18 October in China and at SingPost's post offices. Orders can also be made at SingPost's online shopping portal vPOST, <http://shop.vpost.com.sg>.
